NUM. 421

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 1. 1736.

Nº 421.

Saturday last arrived the Mail due from Holland.

LETTERS from Constantinople say, that the Negotiations between the Kaimakan and Baki Kan the Persian Ambassador, for an Accommodation between the Sultan and the Sophy, go on with very great Appearance of Success; but that Provisions there begin to be scarce, by reason the Russians have ravaged greatest Part of the fruitful Country of Crim Tartary, from whence most of the Corn used to come that was spent in that great City.

They write from Petersburg, that the Russians in their late Expedition under Count Munich against the Crim Tartars, took and carried off 364 Brass Guns and 17 Mortars. 'Tis still reported there, that Marriage will soon be declared between Prince Anthony Ulrick of Wolfenbuttel and the Princess of Mecklenburg, the Czarina's Niece.

Letters from Warsaw say, that Count Potocki, the great General of the Crown Army, has received an Envoy from the new Sultan Galga, whom the Grand Signior has appointed Kan of the Crim Tartars, in room of him who formerly posse's'd that Dignity, and was banished to an Island of the Achipelago, for making a more courageous Stand against the Russian Troops. The said Envoy deliver'd the Count a Letter, wherein the new Kan gives him notice of his Advancement, and assures him, That he sincerely desires to maintain a good Neighbourhood with the Republick; that for this End he will take more than ordinary Care to hinder the Tartars from making Incursions upon the Lands of Poland; that by so doing, he shall only conform himself to the Intentions of the Porte, who also wishes very heartily to live in a perfect Understanding with the Republick; and that he hopes the Polish Nation is in the same Disposition as well with regard to the Porte, as to him and the Nation of the Crim Tartars. The Kan adds in his Letter Count Potocki, 'That he remembers to have known him formerly in the Camp of Charles XII. King of Sweden, at Varnitza near Bender, and that he desires him to preserve the same good Opinion of him which he had then.' The Count has returned a proper Answer to the Letter, and has delivered to the Deputy magnificent Presents for the Kan, to whom they will be the more acceptable, because that was the principal View of his writing the Letter.

M. Tahlman, the Imperial Minister at Constantinople, has sent Advice to his Court, that when he was for taking some Steps relative to the Emperor's Mediation of the Differences between Russia and the Porte, the Kaimakan declar'd to him, 'That when the Grand Signior accepted of the Mediation which the Emperor offered him for putting an End to the Differences with the Court of Russia, his Highness did not know that his Imperial Majesty had given Order for assembling an Army in Hungary; that the Advices which he has since receiv'd, that most of the Troops of the said Army were already arrived in the said Kingdom, gave him Reason to believe, that the Emperor had a Design to assist Russia, in case the Negotiations of the Peace with the said Power prove unsuccessful; and that therefore all these Circumstances hinder'd his Highness from referring the Discussion of his Interests to the Mediation of his Imperial Majesty.'

The Protestant States of the Empire having made Instances to the Emperor for obtaining the Redress of the Complaints made by the Protestants of Germany, his Imperial Majesty has appointed three of the principal Members of the Aulick Council of the Empire to give him their Opinion how the Grievances may be redress'd, without the Danger of prejudicing the Rights of the Roman Catholick Religion: And the said Gentlemen having conferred thereupon with Cardinal Collonitz the Archbishop of Vienna, and Count Passionei the Pope's Nuncio, they have since made a Report to the Emperor, that as the Grievances of the Protestants are very much connected with the Interests of the Roman Catholicks, the best Method that can be taken, as it seems to them, is to nominate an equal Number of the Commissioners of both Religions, in order to examine the Pretensions and Prerogatives of each Party, and to refer the Whole to the Decision of his Imperial Majesty and the Dyet of Ratisbon.

The Commissioners appointed by the Emperor to inquire into the Grievances of the Croats, having made their Report to the Emperor, he has ordered, that such of the Inhabitants as are of the Greek Religion, be restored to the Possession of the Churches taken from them by the Roman Catholicks; and the Emperor has likewise promised them, that they shall have Justice done them with regard to the Ecclesiastical Revenues that were taken from them at the same Time with the Churches. This News put the Croats in so good a Humour, that 10,000 of 'em have taken Horse in order to march towards the Frontiers of Bosnia, with the Imperial Troops that arrived in Croatia some Months ago; and a great Quantity of Arms and Ammunition have been sent from Vienna to be distributed to them.

'Tis given out now at Vienna, that if Spain will consent to the Suppression of some Clauses inserted in the Acts of Renunciation sent to the Imperial Court, the Emperor will, without more Delay, send the Passports for the Count de Fuenclara to come to him from Venice.

As certain Foreign Powers interest themselves very much for the speedy Determination of the Affair of the Succession of Juliers and Berg, we are assur'd, that the Emperor, who is the only lawful Judge in the Cause, has resolv'd to appoint Commissioners for discussing it with the Forms prescribed by the Laws of the Empire.

The Envoy of the States General at the Court of Vienna, has acquainted their High Mightinesses, that notwithstanding all the Instances made on their Part to engage the Emperor not to take any Resolution with regard to the Affairs of East Friseland, his Imperial Majesty had taken one, of which he sent their High Mightinesses a Copy, and is in Substance as follows: 'That the Emperor appointed the King of Great Britain, as Elector of Hanover, Commissioner in this important Affair, and requir'd him to send subdelegate Commissioners to East Friseland, to endeavour to reconcile the contending Parties by fair Means, not only with regard to the Complaints exhibited by the City of Emden, and those of the States of the Country, but also with regard to all the Heads and Articles which the two Parties lay to the Charge of each other, and in particular with regard the publick Chest of the Country, whether it shall remain at Aurich, or be removed to Emden or some other Place, as also with regard to the Quota which the City of Emden is to contribute to the said Chest; and his Imperial Majesty desires for the rest, that they may regulate themselves by the Conventions of the Country approv'd by his Imperial Majesty and the Decrees of the Empire. If the Electoral Commissioners can succeed so far as to reconcile the differing Parties upon these or any of these Articles, his Imperial Majesty orders an Instrument thereof to be drawn up in Form to be confirm'd by his Approbation; but if gentle Methods won't prevail, the Commissioners are to commit the Pleas of both Parties to writing, and send them without the least Delay to his Imperial Majesty.'

The Emperor has made a Proposal to the King of Sardinia, for an Exchange of some of the Novaresse Territories, with others which he will yield to him in the Vignevanese: To which the King of Sardinia has so far signify'd his Consent, that if the Emperor will appoint Commissioners to settle that Exchange, he will nominate others on his Part; and the Emperor has sent Orders to the Count de Stampa, Governor of Mantua, to treat accordingly with the Commissioners of his Sardinian Majesty.

The 4th of October, O. S. being the Festival of St. Theresa, which is one of the Names of the Dutchess of Lorain, the Emperor being at Table with all the Imperial Family, drank to her Health in these Terms, Here's a Health to my Daughter the Dutchess of Lorain. And since that Day, they have given her the Title of Dutchess, instead of that of Archdutchess, by which she had been called ever since her Marriage. The same Day the Duke of Lorain made her a Present of a Gold repeating Watch, which plays the Chimes and is adorn'd with Diamonds.

All the Advices from the Rhine say, that the French Troops in Garison at Philipsburg, Kehl and Treves, have received a fresh Supply of Provisions, and that they are like to stay there some time longer.

They write from Mannheim, that M. Hartman, the Elector Palatine's Minister at the Imperial Court, is arrived there from Vienna, and 'tis said, he has brought with him a Plan or Resolution, concerning the Succession to Berg and Juliers, with which his Electoral Highness seems well satisfy'd.

Letters from Berlin say, that his Prussian Majesty has lately made a very considerable Reform in the Ceremonies of the ancient Lutheran Churches, by ordering that Part of the Divine Service which used to be sung hitherto, to be only read for the Time to come.

They write from Erford in Thuringen, that a great many of the Inhabitants are ruined by the late Fire, which is the greatest they have had there since 1472, when most Part of the Town was reduced to Ashes. This Fire began Yesterday was Three Weeks betwixt 8 and 9 in the Morning, and was so increas'd by the high Wind, that it lasted all Night, and could not be extinguish'd till 6 next Morning, after having burn'd down 180 Houses, of which some were publick Structures, and done great Damage to several Churches and other considerable Buildings. A Discovery has been made, that this dreadful Calamity was owing to certain Incendiaries who set Fire to it at more Places than one: The Particulars we have hitherto learn'd are, That some new-raisd Soldiers arriving there the Day before, with a Design to stay there only one Night, took up their Quarters at the Sign of the Bottle, where they had a Quarrel with the Innkeeper, and set out next Morning very early, telling him as they went away, That it wou'd not be many Hours before their Journey to Erford would be very much talk'd of. The Landlord going into their Chamber after they were gone, found they had set Fire to it, and he soon discovered that they had also set Fire to the Stables and a sort of a Barn. The Flames, which devour'd his House from 3 Places at once, could not be stopp'd, but spread to the neighbouring Quarters, so that every one without Distinction of Rank, did all they could to help put it out, especially the Jesuits and the Augustin Fryars. The Duke of Saxe Weimar, whose Residence is but 4 Leagues from it, was no sooner inform'd of it, but he went thither at the Head of 400 Men, who arrived in the Town on the 11th in the Morning to assist the Inhabitants. The Duke of Saxe Gotha, has sent six great Waggon Loads of Bread and Meat to be distributed among the poor Sufferers, who have lost all they had in the World.

According to Letters from Rome, the Pope has ordered the Life of the Princess Clementina Sobieski, the late Wife of the Chevalier de St. George, to be drawn up after the Manner of our Patents for Peerages, in order for her Beatification or Canonization, and that the proper Officer, who is his own Sacriflain, was order'd to proceed upon it immediately after All-Saints Day; but whether the Ceremony can be performed soon enough for her Appearance among the Saints in the Romish Kalendar of the Year ensuing, is to be doubted. — They add, that Francis, a Lay Brother of the Franciscan Convent at Ripa, having died there lately with what they call the Odor of Sanctity, i.e. the Reputation of a Saint, for having exorcis'd a Woman that had the Devil in her, and drove him out, and for having also restored a blind Man to his Sight; the Franciscan Fryars expos'd his Corpse next Day in their Church, and the Populace flock'd to it in such Crowds for some Pieces of his Habit to keep as Reliques, that the Guards were sent for to prevent Mischief. They tell us from Velletri, that Signior Clavelli continues to proceed against the late Rioters there, and that Colvazzi, one of the Ringleaders, who was sentenced to pay a Fine of 900 Scudis, having sent his Nephew to pay it, the latter at the same Time reproach'd him for the Injustice of the Sentence, and spoke to him withal so indecently, that he was oblig'd to commit him to Prison.

Thy

They write from Madrid, that the King of Spain has order'd Illuminations throughout the Kingdom for three Nights successively, upon the News from Lisbon of the safe Delivery of the Princess of Brasil. They have had such a great Snow about Madrid, that when the Letters came away, all the Hills were cover'd with it.

The Infante Don Emanuel of Portugal has made his Appearance at Valladolid in Spain, where he visits the Churches with very great Devotion, and 'tis said he has signify'd, that he should be glad of Leave to stay in that Kingdom, but that the Court has given him to understand that they cannot grant it; for which Reason 'twas believed he would go next to Bayonne in France.

Saturday last being the Anniversary of his Majesty's Birth-day, who then entered into the 54th Year of his Age, there was a numerous Appearance of the Nobility, foreign Ministers, Judges, and other Persons of Distinction at St. James's, to Compliment her Majesty on that Occasion. At Noon the Guns were fired in St. James's Park and at the Tower; the Evening concluded with publick Demonstrations of Joy throughout the Cities of London and Westminster, and there was a fine Ball at Court, which was opened by the Prince and Princess of Wales.

The same Day the Ode compos'd by Colley Cibber, Esq; Poet Laureat to his Majesty, and set to Musick by Dr. Green, was performed in the great Council Chamber before her Majesty and the rest of the Royal Family.

C O M E lovely Virgin, fair-ey'd Peace,
With all thy honest jovial Throng;
Loud laughing Mirth and smiling Ease,
Assist the Muse, and raise the Song:
Sing to GEORGE his Natal Day,
Great GEORGE, that makes Mankind his Care,
Whilst tripping Swains shall grace the Lay,
And Dance upon the Grave of War.

R E C I T.

Down the fell, the furious Monster falls,
Disbanded Rapine drops her Spoils around;
While fearless now the Voice of Labour calls,
To turn the bleeding Turf, and Till the Ground.

A I R and C H O R U S.

When Britain's late Arms were for Conquest renown'd;
The glorious her Triumphs, her Glory still found
No Conquest more great, than to guard against War,
Nor the Pride to Defeat, like the Glory to Spare;
Ambition no more shall our Quiet annoy,
Nor the Peasant deplore, what he hop'd to enjoy;
Your Commerce, your Arts, shall all flourish and sing,
And the Joy of your Hearts, be the Joy of your King.

R E C I T.

Those Blessings, GEORGE, to thy great Influence
(giv'n,

Glorious proclaim thee Substitute of Heav'n.

A I R.

GEORGE, the Beam of Justice poising,
Marks Ambition's bounded Pow'r;
When too high the Scale is rising,
British Measures sink it low'r:
Kings in frantick Pride contending,
Native Blessings to destroy;
Learn from GEORGE, their Ruptures ending,
Greater Blessings to enjoy.

R E C I T.

Distrust and Envy, now no more
Shall vainly blast the Views of Pow'r.

A I R.

But thankful for the happy Day,
That gave the god-like Hero Life,
Shall make, who best shall now obey,
The only Mark of civil Strife.

This Day the four Malefactors under Sentence of Death in Newgate are to be executed at Tyburn.

There is great Reason to believe that Kelly has not yet reach'd France, but lurks in England till he is a little forgot; nor should the Friends of the Government slacken in their Care to apprehend him, till it is printed in the Gazette, that he has been seen in France; and it is hoped, that as there is a Reward of Two hundred Pounds, and the Earl of Leicester, as we hear, offers another Hundred for taking him, he may again be brought to Light; besides, 'tis Felony and Death in any one, knowingly, to conceal him.

The Indulgence the Government shew'd him since his Commitment, the Lenity of the Officers in the Tower, and the Word of Honour he gave them, when he first was admitted to go out for the Air, that he would not attempt an Escape, renders him very Ungrateful, as well as highly Criminal.

He is too slender Leg'd for his Height; but that he may disguise by false Calves, which should be attended to.
